

Verse 1:

If love is like fire then sorrow like ice
If virtue like tear drops then laughter like vice Cause heart break's so easy but mending's so hard
And life's gentle touch always leaves us scarred

Chorus:

Sing me a lullaby, ease my despair
Notes chiming quietly on the air
Sing me a lullaby, take my pain
Melody falling soft like rain

Verse 2:

If hate is like dying then joy is like peace
If taking's like capture then giving's release
Cause pride is a killer, she's ruthless with need
Choking apology, not to be freed

Bridge:

Because we're all human, we all must fall
Because we're all hurting, we feel so small
But hardship's a season, it comes and goes
Sowing the ground, so hope may grow
